Tecla’s K-9 Academy is raising the bar in dog training, boarding and daycare with the successful opening of their new 13,000 square foot headquarters at 7111 Dorsey Run Rd. in Elkridge, MD. With the opening, Tecla’s K-9 Academy is setting a new trend in dog care marrying their highly sought after training, daycare and boarding with the best professional space devoted completely to dog care in Maryland. The new headquarters will also enable TK9 to reach many more dogs, and give each and every one a good home and a good life—it’s what every dog deserves.

Since opening their first facility over five years ago, Tecla’s K-9 Academy has made it their mission to help as many dogs as possible. Since then TK9 has helped hundreds of dogs become confident and happy dogs. What makes them strive so hard to build great lives for all dogs is seeing how many rescue animals are given up on; never given a chance. Whereas many see a hopeless case, TK9 sees a dog that simply needs the right training, attention and love.

Tecla’s K-9 Academy takes pride in working with many of the area rescue organizations, to which they provide training and boarding services. In addition, TK9 also takes the initiative to raise funds for the rescue organizations, most notably through the annual TK9 event: SPORT DOG! EXPO.

TK9’s services include: Daycare, boarding, basic obedience, advanced training, sport dog training and much more. Group classes as well as private training sessions are offered.

Testimonials from Tecla’s K-9 Academy Clients:

Under the close and careful supervision of Tecla’s staff, Brooks learned how to behave appropriately with other dogs—how to play with them, how to avoid conflict, and how to accept new dogs. Brooks flourished in this environment and came home every night a tired and happy guy. His selfconfidence grew enormously.

– Deborah

Tecla has been wonderful to us and to Henry; I’m sure she is the main reason we were able to keep him. She has seen Henry through puppy class, basic obedience, Rally 1, and now Rally 2. Henry also regularly attends her Pack to Basics and Behavior Modification classes where Tecla’s ability to work with dogs really shines.

– Katy & Dan

Why Does He Do That?!

The things pets do. You’ve probably heard—and seen—some crazy things. There’s the classic dog running around in circles for hours, a Labrador that ate his owners’ king-size bed when he was left alone, or the German Short Hair Pointer that ran into an open dryer after a loud clap of thunder.

Pets can get extremely anxious under specific circumstances, and act out in ways that surprise us. While we may not be able to identify the root cause, or understand why they think jumping in a dryer will make them feel better, we have found that acupuncture can help tremendously.

Acupuncture can help your pet remain calmer, even during times that are normally stressful for him. Whether your dog acts up during storms, kitty doesn’t like company, or they hate being left alone, a licensed animal acupuncturist can help keep your pet calm and safe.

If you’re one of those lucky people whose pet sleeps through anything and actually enjoys some time alone, acupuncture offers safe treatment for many conditions. Pain-related conditions show some of the most obvious and consistent results, but there are very few things acupuncture can’t address. It has worked wonders for a 13-year-old beagle with arthritis, has managed diabetes in a cat, and has helped get a lame racehorse moving again. So consider trying acupuncture for your pet. It may turn out to be the safe, effective treatment you’ve been looking for to keep him strong, healthy and calm. And, while most people worry about the needles—for themselves or their pets—the truth is there is no pain or stress involved. Even the most anxious pets begin to calm down within minutes of their first treatment.

For more information or to arrange a consultation, call Randi Sobel M.Ac., L.Ac Certified Animal Acupuncturist at 410-654-8997 est. 1. See ad on page above right.
Why to Choose to Go to a Holistic Veterinarian?

A holistic veterinarian is trained in both Western veterinary medicine and has completed postdoctoral specialty training in many holistic modalities. The holistic approach to medical care for your pet will look at the animal as a whole, searching for the imbalances causing ill health instead of merely treating symptoms. 70% of all disease begins in the gut and we are trained in holistic food therapy which is the answer to many diseases.

When coming for Acupuncture or other holistic therapies, the holistic veterinarian will do a complete physical examination each visit often uncovering a new condition to be addressed. The holistic veterinarian will train you in lifestyle changes, food therapy and limited vaccines for your pet to promote immune health in preventing disease.

Chronic and age related disease states are well managed with holistic therapies. Often, holistic veterinarians have more to offer to address these issues. Many people prefer to seek a more natural therapy (less drugs) for their pet. Animals and their people are living in the same energy household thus affecting their health. A holistic veterinarian will consider the family dynamic when assessing your pet’s issues.

Presented by Holistic Veterinary Healing. For more information contact Dr. Pema Mallu at 240-715-6570, visit holisticveterinaryhealing.com, or email bolvethealing@gmail.com. See our ad below.

We view your animal as a whole and focus on the root of disease for projected long-term healing.

Hello Again, Pet Enthusiasts!

Thanks to your continued use of Maryland Pet Gazette. You consistently keep us as your largest, most frequently used pet resource in Maryland. Despite the downturn in the economy over the past 5 years, the pet industry is one of the few industries that continues to grow, with pet ownership now up 12% since we first published in 2002!

Joan Van Hoven, our account manager and I continued to welcome new advertisers this past year, offering truly unique services/products or carving their own niche in traditional pet categories! Indeed, by participating in this who's who of the local pet industry, in fact, all of our sponsors stand out as the top experts in their respective fields.

While we have thousands of visitors to our website every month, our commitment to your printed directory remains stronger than ever, and still engages thousands of new pet owners each year. Although print media has trended downward in the past several years, we remain indispensable by providing more information you need for your pet each year. Likewise, our sponsors continue to build their pet businesses through our directed pet resource as we help connect them with you—informed pet parents. These sponsors love to hear that you found them in Maryland Pet Gazette.

In turn, by utilizing the products and services of our advertisers, you enable us to donate advertising space to the rescues (pages 52-59) and animal welfare organizations (pages 76-80) to promote their mission to save the lives of many local pets!

This year we have several new Rewards Cards Sponsors. Try out a new service for your pet and take advantage of the special offers as seen on page 83.

Want to stay connected with the latest pet information throughout the year? Go to our website at www.mdpetgazette.com to sign up for our newsletter/bulletin. There you can enjoy expanded articles, pet tips and view upcoming pet events and special offers. You will also find this printed directory online and when downloaded through Adobe Reader®, you can search by category and click our sponsors’ ads to go directly to their websites as well. We wish you and your pets a happy, healthy 2015!

“I’m aloof, I like to run around outside, but I also like to curl up in warm spots. I eat fish.”
—Megan Coughlin on why she’d make a good cat.
Have We Been Together Before?

How often have you looked at your animal companion and asked that very question? Have you seen glimpses of a behavior or an attitude that reminds you of a pet from earlier in your life? Did a puppy run out of a kennel and make a bee-line for you? Did a shelter kitten stick a paw out of his cage as if he were saying “Hey—stop—it’s me!”?

Our animals do reincarnate. They know what many of us struggle with: they can come back as any species and any gender whenever they choose. Very often they come back to us.

Their reasons, they explain, include:
- We still need them for our healing
- They have a mission and purpose, and we’re the ones they’ve chosen to do it with
- They had a fun, productive life with us and want to do it again

Animals have been doing this dance with us long before anyone recognized their capacity to think and communicate. They put out a call to us, we get a felt sense of it, and suddenly decide that now is the time to look for a new puppy, or hear about the perfect horse, or say yes to adopting a stray cat when everything inside us is screaming NO.

They want us to know that returning to an earth experience is easy, natural, and every living thing does it…

Support for Loss of a Pet

When you lose a human member of your family, your whole community of family, friends, colleagues, and spiritual leaders gather to give you comfort, love, and support. Losing pet members of your family is a completely different story. It is still a terrible loss. The family dynamic has changed for everyone, including other pets. This loss is made even harder by the fact that society doesn’t recognize the importance and severe impact of the loss of your special pet on you and your family. There is no family leave to grieve for a pet. You still have to go to work the next day. Here are suggestions to help you grieve for your four-legged family members:

• Let your support system know of your loss and share how badly you feel.
• Talking about your pet is emotionally healthy, and helps you through your grief.
• Put your favorite pictures and videos in an album or on a DVD
• Make a specific plan for burial or cremation ahead of time to reduce the stress of making decisions when you are so upset.
• Make sure any cemetery is licensed by the Maryland Office of Cemetery Oversight to relieve concerns about stability and reliability.

Mention you saw it in the Maryland Pet Gazette
Just this side of heaven is a place called Rainbow Bridge. When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to the Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all our special friends so they can run and play together. There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable. All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor; those who are hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by.

The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing: they miss someone very special, someone who was left behind. They all run and play together, but the day comes when suddenly one stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent; his eager body begins to quiver. Suddenly he breaks from the group, flying over the green grass, faster and faster.

You have been spotted and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more in those trusting eyes, so long from your life, but never absent from your heart. Then you cross the Rainbow Bridge together.

When Training Marries Daycare

It is no secret that training must include proper socialization to be a part of most dogs’ training/behavioral modification protocols. The reason is simple: most dogs that are struggling in social situations, whether with other dogs or people, have either had poor social interactions or not enough social interactions. We cannot truly help a dog reacting poorly towards other dogs out of fear if we do not allow them safe and proper interactions with other dogs. This goes a step beyond management and allows us to truly heal the dog from the inside.

In order for this kind of work to take place, a few ingredients must be in place:

1. Access to a stable group of dogs (often daily access for a period of time)
2. A way to communicate to the dog that needs help (good obedience training)
3. Consistency in handling the dog that needs help

Access to a stable group of dogs is available through a daycare that does socialization correctly. Often times this stability is the outcome of socialization being guided properly and fairly by the humans. Obedience plays an important role because from the moment a dog comes into a daycare like this he is asked to politely walk on leash and sit calmly at doorways. This creates his willingness to be guided by the humans in the daycare room as well. Additional training sessions are also available during the daycare experience to target areas that the owners need help with (jumping, puppy mouthing, barking, etc). Each member of the staff handles the dog consistently which helps to generalize the dog’s behavior.

When these ingredients come together and the dogs are receiving mental stimulation through training and physical exercise as well as confidence in social situations through proper socialization they become better dogs at home. They go home mentally fulfilled and physically exercised which means they are able to settle and relax with their owners. They also take with them the obedience and socialization lessons that they have learned during their daycare stay. The outcome when training marries daycare is the complete experience, which helps every dog to become the best that he can be.

Talk to Your Groomer

Reputable grooming shops need your input to provide great service. Being ready to provide complete answers to the following questions will aid the groomer in providing superior service!

- What would you like done with your dog today?
- How long would you like the hair on the face, the body, the legs and feet?
- Does your pet require a medicated or other special shampoo for specific skin problems?
- Any current medical or age related problems?
- What leeway do we have in dealing with matted hair?

While asking these questions the groomer is performing a quick visual and manual inspection of your pet. While petting your animal, he is feeling for lumps and bumps you may not have found. We are also feeling for matted hair on his sides, belly, and back and behind his legs and ears. Long toenails may need special attention as well. Remember, the skin and coat is the largest organ of your pet’s body and often is an indicator of overall health and nutrition.

Your groomer needs your help to deliver the best grooming experience to your pet!

How to Choose a Boarding Kennel

Choosing a boarding kennel for your dog is as important as choosing a hotel when you go on vacation. Just like you, your dog can get stressed. Making sure that your dog has an enjoyable stay while you are on vacation will help keep him/her healthy and in good spirits. When looking for a boarding kennel, here are a few things to consider:

• How are the kennels maintained? Are they clean?
• What do the pens look like? Is it a cage or a run? Is there outside access?
• Is the staff understanding of your dog’s needs? Are they knowledgeable?
• Is the kennel licensed?

• What is the daily routine (feeding, etc)?
• What vaccinations do they require?
• How will the kennel handle a medical emergency?
• What type of temperature control is available? Are the pens heated and/or air-conditioned?

Finding a good kennel can be as simple as asking a friend, co-worker, family member, or dog trainer for recommendations. You can also check local resources such as this Maryland Pet Gazette. Once you have a few names, call the individual kennels and ask for references. Most importantly, don’t wait to the last minute to make your dog’s accommodations. During peak vacation times, kennels fill quickly.

GO FIGURE!
“VetBilling.com has proven to be an exciting partner and innovative addition to payment plan options in veterinary practices I work with. This means more patients getting the care that they need and more clients happy about their experience. It’s a win-win.”

— Jason Canapp, Canapp & Associates, Animal Eye Care, Fremont, CA

Emergencies and unexpected illnesses or injuries can cost thousands of dollars. When your pet needs costly care, you need payment options. Ask your vet about a flexible, no-interest payment plan through VetBilling.com.

Visit our web site for a list of participating providers. Don’t see your vet? Complete our Vet Participation Request Form, and we’ll contact your vet to discuss the benefits of offering our program.

Daisy’s Story:

When Peggy Caudle’s 5 year old female Cocker Spaniel, Daisy, became seriously ill, she rushed her to a nearby emergency vet clinic. Daisy was diagnosed with a life-threatening infection. Emergency surgery was estimated to cost $2,500, but Peggy had only half that amount. Peggy applied for third-party financing, but wasn’t approved.

Unable to pay for Daisy’s surgery, Peggy was distraught. She didn’t want to euthanize her dog, but the clinic didn’t offer an alternative payment plan. A receptionist suggested that Peggy take Daisy to Frederick Road Veterinary Hospital, owned by Drs. Dan and Lisa Zakai. The receptionist thought that they might help Peggy, and they did.

Dr. Dan Zakai confirmed Daisy’s diagnosis. Without immediate surgery, Daisy wouldn’t make it through the night. Again, Peggy faced the issue of how to pay for Daisy’s treatment. Fortunately, Frederick Road Vet had recently started offering in-house, no-interest payment plans, managed by VetBilling.com. Peggy was offered a 3 month plan, and Daisy was able to have her surgery.

Daisy is doing well and enjoying life with Peggy, who says she doesn’t know what she would have done if she hadn’t been offered a payment plan through VetBilling.com and Frederick Road Vet. “Daisy’s so important to me, and I didn’t want to lose her. Thank goodness I had a little extra time to pay for Daisy’s surgery.”

According to Dr. Lisa Zakai, one of the primary reasons Frederick Road Vet decided to offer payment plans through VetBilling.com was to help pet owners who might not qualify for traditional financing. “Not everyone who loves their animal can get a credit card. Just because someone doesn’t have great credit doesn’t mean they can’t or won’t pay.

“We chose VetBilling.com to handle our payment plans because, unlike third-party financing, our clients aren’t at risk of being charged high interest. VetBilling.com plans allow us to be flexible – not everyone can pay off their entire balance in 6 months, and with VetBilling.com we can set up payment plans for any amount and length of time, according to each client’s needs.”

A Stump For A Tail
You can’t buy loyalty, they say
I bought it though, the other day
You can’t buy friendship, tried and true
Well just the same I bought that too
I made my bid, and on the spot
Bought love and faith and
A whole job lot of happiness
So all in all...
The purchase price was pretty small
I bought a single trusting heart
That gave devotion from the start
If you think these things are not for sale
Buy a brown-eyed puppy with a stump
for a tail. — Author Unknown

Rescue Organizations

Attention Reader: The following list has been extensively updated for 2015. Consider these groups as an excellent means of adopting a new pet and the first place if you must surrender your pet. (We strongly recommend you keep your pet for life!) They are staffed by volunteers who sacrifice many hours of their time to save the lives of many animals in the local community. Contacts are accurate as of the printing of this directory, but change frequently. If you do not see a particular breed listed below, there is no current local group and we advise you to contact your local shelter (see page 4) or all breed rescue (below).

What are Hydro (Swim) Sessions?

Hydro exercise offers many benefits to our pets, whether they are service pets, sporting pets, competition pets, or good old couch potatoes.

One type of pool that is used is the specially designed Endless Lap Pool. It offers the smoothing effects of warm water during exercise. This allows the pet’s muscles to relax and stretch. Some other added features are water jets that help stimulate circulation and increase relaxation.

Your pet with arthritic joints will have the ability to walk, stand and move easier after sessions of swimming and massage. Hydro exercise allows minimal weight bearing while exercising, which is easier on the joints, helping to build up muscle and endurance.

Overweight pets benefit by being able to work longer during exercise with less stress on their joints. This exercise along with a good balanced diet from your veterinarian will help pounds fade and good muscle tone appear.

Pets who need to be conditioned and maintain their weight in order to compete in their area of competition, find hydro exercise is a safer and faster way to build their stamina and strength.

Your veterinarian may recommend hydro exercise as part of your pet’s rehabilitation following some injuries or surgery. Aside from the benefits mentioned above, a regimen of swimming and having fun are benefits to all pets.

Ten Commandments for a Responsible Dog Owner
Author unknown

1. My life is likely to last 10 to 15 years. Any separation from you will be very painful.
2. Give me time to understand what you want.
3. Place your trust in me—it is crucial for my well-being.
4. Don’t be angry with me for long, and don’t lock me up as punishment. You have your work, your friends, your entertainment. I have only you.
5. Talk to me. Even if I don’t understand your words, I understand your voice when it’s speaking to me.
6. However you treat me, I’ll never forget it.
7. Before you hit me, remember that I have teeth that could easily crush the bones in your hand, but I choose not to bite you.
8. Before you scold me for being lazy or uncooperative, ask yourself if something might be bothering me. Perhaps I’m not getting the right food, I’ve been out in the sun too long, or my heart may be getting old and weak.
9. Take care of me when I get old. You, too, will grow old.
10. Go with me on difficult journeys. Never say “I can’t bear to watch it” or “Let it happen in my absence.” Everything is easier for me if you are there. Remember, I love you.
Addison’s Disease

Addison’s disease is a hormonal disorder, which affects dogs, humans, and rarely cats. John F. Kennedy is likely the best known person to be affected by this disease. Addison’s disease is also called hypoadrenocorticism or adrenal insufficiency, meaning the adrenal glands produce too little of the hormones they should be making.

The signs of Addison’s disease can be quite vague. Classic signs include poor appetite, vomiting, and lethargy. These signs may wax and wane, and may appear more profound during times of stress. Often, dogs with Addison’s disease are described as having a “sensitive stomach”. Poodles, Leonbergers and Nova Scotia Duck Tolling Retrievers are considered the most susceptible breeds.

Many dogs with Addison’s disease are not diagnosed until they experience an Addissonian crisis. This is a life-threatening event in which pets exhibit severe signs of illness, including profound vomiting, diarrhea (sometimes with blood), dehydration and collapse.

There are two forms of the disease: typical and atypical. In the typical form, the adrenal glands are incapable of producing two main classes of hormones: glucocorticoids and mineralocorticoids. The main glucocorticoid is called cortisol (commonly referred to as “stress hormone”). Mineralocorticoids maintain proper electrolyte balance in the bloodstream. In those affected with typical Addison’s disease, the lack of these hormones results in gastrointestinal upset, and bloodwork will often show electrolyte disturbances and elevated renal parameters.

In the atypical form, only cortisol is lacking; this results in vague intermittent signs of gastrointestinal distress which can be worsened when under times of stress. Atypical Addison’s can be much more challenging to diagnose, as there are often no changes on typical screening blood work.

Diagnosing Addison’s disease is accomplished through relatively simple blood testing. First, a sample of blood is drawn from the pet, to measure the baseline cortisol level in the blood. Second, a hormone called ACTH (which stimulates the adrenal glands to produce cortisol) is administered, and an additional blood sample is drawn one hour later to measure the body’s response. If the cortisol level does not rise as expected after it is stimulated with ACTH, Addison’s disease is likely present.

Although Addison’s disease is a lifelong condition, it is fortunately very treatable! The treatment for Addison’s disease involves supplementing the hormones which the adrenal glands are not producing. With appropriate treatment, pets with Addison’s disease can live normal, happy lives. If your pet is experiencing signs which could be attributable to Addison’s disease, please speak to your veterinarian.

What is Veterinary Specialty Medicine?

Today, it is not uncommon for “Fluffy” to be considered a family member and receive the same standard of care. Many of today’s life-threatening issues we face are often diagnosed in our pets and from this need arose “specialty” veterinary medicine.

The American College of Veterinary Surgeons (ACVS) gained recognition by the American Veterinary Medical Association in 1970, followed by The American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (ACVIM) in 1980. ACVIM includes internal medicine, cardiology, neurology, and oncology. Veterinarians seeking these certifications pursue three to five years advanced training beyond becoming a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. Following the advanced schooling, the doctors granted the title of Diplomate publish research, perform internships and work residencies within their specialties.

Specialists utilize state-of-the-art facilities encompassing advanced diagnostic and therapeutic equipment. For pets facing challenging disease or injuries, nursing care is essential to the recovery process. Specialists employ graduates of accredited veterinary technology programs (Registered Veterinary Technicians), veterinary assistants and support staff with advanced knowledge and training in the clinical diseases and specialized surgical procedures.

Provided compliments of CARE Veterinary Center, open 24 hours, 7 days a week. Four veterinary specialists and five ER doctors are on staff for the specialty and emergency care for your pet. Call 301-662-2273 or visit our website at www.carefrederick.com. See ad page 63.
What Is a House-Call Vet?

House-call veterinarians offer many conveniences that traditional animal hospitals cannot.

One of the biggest is overcoming the fear and trauma that many animals experience when taken from their home to a veterinary hospital. By examining your pet in its own environment, where it is more secure, your house-call veterinarian can better evaluate their health, behavior and conditions which may be aggravated by their environment. House-call veterinarians offer a wide array of services: from vaccines to end-of-life care to surgery and dental cleanings. Some house-call veterinarians own specialized trucks which are essentially “hospitals on wheels.” These vehicles have the capability to do x-rays, in-house bloodwork for immediate results, and surgery.

Additionally, a house-call veterinarian is more convenient to many owners who are homebound, have busy schedules, children or those who don’t want to expose their pet to other sick pets. House-call veterinarians offer greater freedom in scheduling appointments and work with your schedule. They offer more personalized care than you would likely receive at a 15-minute appointment with the stationary clinic veterinarian. Many house-call veterinarians also provide emergency care for their clients. So hurry up, call a mobile vet today and see how much your pet loves them!

Managing Veterinary Costs

As the cost of veterinary treatment has risen, the ability of pet owners to pay for it has declined. Many of us can’t easily afford emergency or surgical procedures. 53% of owners say that even routine and preventive care is usually higher than expected. While 76% say they would spend “any amount necessary” to save their pet, most aren’t prepared to pay for an emergency or catastrophic illness.

Some suggestions for managing costs:

Third-party Payment Plans allow you to spread costs over time. To avoid high interest charges, installment payment plans are a better choice than a medical credit card.

Wellness Plans are one-year contracts that cover routine preventive care. Plan prices vary but monthly payments make it easier to budget costs.

Charitable Organizations exist that offer veterinary financial assistance. For a list visit VeterinaryPartner.com.

Coupons, Discounts, Promotions: Check your vet’s Facebook page or website for promotions. Watch your mail for coupons on heartworm medication or flea and tick treatment.

Making use of all these options means you won’t have to choose between your pet’s health and your pocketbook.

For more information about veterinary payment plans, go to www.VetBilling.com or call 410-252-9206. Suzanne Cannon is Director of Marketing and Business Development. See our ad page 44.

“A Cat’s Prayer”

Now I lay me down to sleep.
I pray this cushy life to keep.
I pray for toys that look like mice.
And sofa cushions, soft and nice.
I pray for gourmet kitty snacks.
And someone nice to scratch my back.
For windowsills all warm and bright.
For shadows to explore at night.
I pray I’ll always stay real cool
And keep the secret feline rule—
To NEVER tell a human that
The world is really ruled by Cats!

Puppies and Kittens Need Blood Work too!

Wellness is a whole body concept of health and longevity for our pets. It begins with a healthy adoption or purchase and continues at the first visit to your veterinarian. When pets come in for first vaccinations, they are given a thorough physical examination. This is called a wellness examination. If problems are discovered, they are addressed individually. Problems could range from something as common as intestinal worms or overgrown toenails to something as serious as a congenital liver or heart defect. There are some problems in young pets that can go undetected for a period of time before they cause trouble. That is why it is recommended to get baseline blood work on young pets even if they look like they are very healthy. Baseline blood work can detect small changes and can be used to show any trends in organ systems (liver, kidney, blood sugar, etc.) throughout your pets’ early years. This is the new trend in wellness among veterinarians today and reflects the preventative care model and wellness approach in veterinary medical practice. Ask your veterinarian about baseline blood work for your young pets, followed up with annual blood work at or around vaccination time. You can receive a report of the results to keep for your records. It will make a positive difference in the overall well-being of your healthy, happy pet.

Welfare Organizations for Animals

Save a life. Consider adopting a shelter animal or rescue animal. We need your help—a record number of good pets are now given up during these tough economic times. In turn, our shelters are filling up and their resources are stretched. As a result, some of these facilities are offering significant discounts on adoption fees. You can also donate to your favorite animal welfare organization or serve as a volunteer.

So, You’re Thinking of Adopting a Pet?

Thinking of adopting a pet and aren’t sure how to go about it? Ask yourself some important questions…. Does your work schedule and other responsibilities keep you away from home a majority of the day? Are you prepared for a 10-20 year commitment? If adopting a pet for your children, are you okay with the possibility that you may become the primary caretaker if your children lose interest or go off to college?

OK. So you’ve thought it through and you are ready for your new pet. The next step is to research which type of pet is best for you and prepare your home. If you are considering a cat, you will need a litterbox, food, dishes, and a scratching post. A dog will need dishes, a bed, leash/collar, and food. Next, evaluate the size, age, and temperament of the pet you are able to care for. Make sure to consider breed characteristics when making your choice. There are some basic guidelines to help you in this process. Typically, larger dogs are calmer; some small dogs can be too delicate for younger children. And yes, all dogs shed and can cause allergic reactions (however, these can be greatly alleviated with a little diligence). Puppies are not good choices for households with small children or where no one is home for many hours a day.

Once you’ve researched what pet is a match for you and prepared your home, you’re ready to adopt. Your local Humane Society will have a great selection of animals looking for the perfect home. If you have determined that an older animal suits your lifestyle, there’s no better place to meet your match than your local shelter! Once you have found your perfect companion, life will never be the same. You can expect years of love and companionship.

Brought to you by The Humane Society of Harford County, Inc. 410-836-1090. See our ad page 78.

*This does not represent a complete list of toxins. Please visit pet-er.net/toxins for more information.
If you suspect that your pet has ingested something toxic, it is important that you immediately get to your veterinarian or the Pet+ER for assessment, stabilization and treatment.
Keep in mind that the prognosis is always better when a toxicity is reported immediately, so don’t wait to see if your pet becomes symptomatic before calling for help. Remember that there’s a narrow window of time when we can decontaminate (induce vomiting or pump the stomach) in the case of a poisoning!
